

Casting light on design of Temple—HAIFA, Israel, 15 July 2003 (BWNS)

The architect of the new Bahá'í Temple to be built in Chile, Siamak Hariri, shown here with a model of the temple, sat down recently for a wide ranging interview about everything from the creative process to details of the design.

Click here for the full interview.